

FuTur™ Non-toxic TRAVEL BUDDY is going to be your #1 go-to hand and surface cleaner. It is also small and safe enough to go in your carry-on bag while travelling.

Unlike other conventional hand sanitizers, FuTur™ Non-toxic TRAVEL BUDDY eliminates harsh viruses like the NOROVIRUS. Plus, you can wash your hands with it as many times as you like, as opposed to chemical-based hand sanitizers.

It also eliminates salmonella, e-coli, listeria and many other viruses, while also being 100% natural, safe, biodegradable and hypoallergenic, thanks to its amazing nanotechnology!

Nanotechnology is the most powerful science in the world allowing plant enzymes to perform a stronger, more effective task than any generic chemical product in the world while being 100% nontoxic. This futuristic science works at the smallest possible scale known to life, the nanoscale. These nanoparticles are programmed to execute specific functions and target every substance. Due to their extremely small size, one billion times smaller than a meter, they are able to penetrate any material and clean and disinfect any surface. It is the safest disinfectant, no warning label is required.

According to a study conducted by in-flight data scientists from Georgia Tech, airplane passengers have an 80% chance of getting sick on a flight. Some research suggests that illness droplets can travel as far as six feet away from a sick person, and flu particles can last for up to 24 hours on hard surfaces. Disinfecting your hands and any surface area on a regular basis is important to avoid getting sick, especially if you are always on the road, travelling, meeting new people or if you work in healthcare facilities and schools.
